Robin

The class is doing well. They all are completing their homework in a timely manner. Very nice work! The class worked really hard on learning how to write a summary properly. They put a lot of detail into their sentences. I am proud of the progress they are making so far.

In May we:

- completed a Mother's Day craft.
- read short stories and answered comprehension questions.
- learned about setting, characters, and plot.
- wrote short summaries on two Clifford the Big Red Dog books read in class.
- read a poem and wrote a Haiku poem.

In June and July we will:

- learn different parts of speech, such as prepositions.
- read and watch short video clips about current events.
- write descriptive sentences about the current events.
- learn about a solution in a story.
- review topic sentences.
